Develop Your Plan

- Identify the career or career area you want to pursue.
- Research what is required to be in that career.
- Map out a plan for getting to where you want to be.

Creating a List of Colleges

Things to consider:

- Size of the student body
- Location
- Academic programs
- Campus life
- Cost
- Diversity
- Retention and graduation rates

The College Visit

■ Why visit?

To really get a feel for the school, you need to see it in person. Do you like the setting and the educational environment? Can you picture yourself there for four or more years?

■ Procedure:

Call the admissions office or see their website to set up a visit. A visit usually consists of a tour of the campus and time for questions and answers, so prepare a list of questions to ask before you go. Submit a note to the attendance office prior to that day. Students are permitted to miss up to 3 days of school for college/career visits.

Internet Sites

Most colleges have their own website that explains their admission process, academic offerings, and campus life. Other helpful websites include:

- collegeboard.com
- act.org
- educationplanner.com
- commonapp.org
- ncaaclearinghouse.net
- Fafsa.ed.gov
- Jobs4lancaster.com (PA Career Link)

How Colleges May Use Test Scores

- SAT- Highest verbal and math scores across different administrations.
- Others use the highest pair of scores from a single administration.
- ACT- Most institutions use the highest composite score from a single administration.
- Best combination of English, Math, Reading, and Science
- Some schools do not use test scores if your GPA is a certain level or if you include writing samples (ex: Lebanon Valley College, Franklin and Marshall College)

ASVAB

Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery

- ✓ Provides a snapshot of your current knowledge and skills.
 - ✓ Can compare your scores with the educational or job requirements for occupations of interest to you.
 - ✓ Scores can qualify you for certain jobs and training in the Armed Forces.

ASVAB

- Testing will be offered at Warwick on April 9th. Sign up in the Counseling Office.
- Testing interpretation will be offered at Warwick when tests are scored.
- Excellent career planning tool and does not commit you to the military.
